DESCRIPTION

The Corona Chair was first produced by the Danish designer Paul Volther in the early 1960's, and received instant praise. Originally made from solid oak, experimentation with various materials led Volther to re-release it a year later crafted from steel. This version remains a popular choice today, thanks to its seemingly suspended and unique look that's met by impeccable comfort. The Paul Volther Corona Chair & Footstool are of high quality inspired by Volther's designs. The Corona Chair is frequently featured on the hit show "Mad Men" and received its first acclamation when the chair was launched in 1964. The Paul Volther Corona Footstool are of high quality inspired by Volther's designs.

Our Volther inspired Footstool features Cal 117 foam, stainless steel flat bar and high quality Italian leather. Unlike the chair, the footstool is stationary and does not rotate.
